Numerals include to:tté 'one', lákki 'two', iséɦ 'three', sálaɦ 'four', xúpin 'five', cappí 'six', cáɦɦa 'seven', sátte 'eight', kólla 'nine', xúDDa 'ten', Dippa 'hundred', and ši 'thousand'. Decades higher than ten are formed by following xudán-ko by a multiplier: e.g., xudán-ko lákki 'twenty'. A decade takes a suffix -ppa and is followed by one of the first nine numerals to form the units higher than the decade: e.g., xúDDa-ppa to:tté 'eleven'. At least Gawwada of išárkuta distinguishes to?on 'one', used in counting, from masculine to:kkó and feminine to:tté 'one, used after a modified noun.
